FATHER FELIX COLLEGE HEAD

PASTOR OF ST. MARY'S CHOSEN DIRECTOR AT CONCEPTION.

LEAVES EARLY IN JUNE

Will Be in Charge of High School Also; Successor Here Is Not Announced.

The Rev. Father Richard Felix, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, announced to his parish yesterday that he was leaving early in June to become director of Conception College at Conception.

The appointment of the Rev. Father Richard was made by the Right Rev. Abbot Philip, head of the Benedictine colony at Conception.

Beginning with the close of the present school year, Father Felix will be head of both the college and high school departments of Conception College, and he will have an important part in the program of building and extension, recently launched at the college.

In assuming his new duties at Conception, Father Felix, a native Nodaway countian, is returning to work for which he has received training unusually thorough. He is himself a graduate of Conception College, having taken both high school and college work there. He pursued his theological studies in St. Vincent's seminary at Pittsburgh and was ordained as a priest in 1918, saying his first mass at Conception.

Extensive Training.

Subsequently he attended Catholic University at Washington, D. C., for two years, taking graduate work exclusively in education and psychology. He returned to teach philosophy and act as director of studies at Conception College for four years, then took more advanced studies, including a summer term at Harvard University and a summer term at Columbia University, New York. During two summer terms he taught in Villanova University, Philadelphia.

It is not generally known that the Rev. Father Richard is a fully accredited member of the extension staff of the University of Missouri, teaching extension classes in education, members of which receive University credit.

He has been pastor of St. Mary's since August, 1925. His successor has not yet been announced.

Program of Expansion.

Father Felix is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Felix, who live at Clyde.

At Conception, his duties will be almost wholly those of administration and supervision. Plans for a new building to house the College classes apart from those of high school rank were announced several days ago as the first unit in a program of expansion which will continue over a number of years. Under the direction of the Rev. Father Felix the College is expected in the next few years to experience a great growth. One of the first steps will be to seek recognition by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

Conception College was established in 1888 and among its graduates are 140 priests and a number of prominent physicians and other professional men. In the past the college department has been primarily for those students expecting to ender the priesthood. Under the present expansion program, its scope will be greatly enlarged.

Mrs. Kemp was born in Blandinsville, Ill., Dec. 23, 1863 and with her parents Mr. and Mrs. George R. Epperson, came to Nodaway county when a small girl. She was a resident of the Swan Chapel neighborhood until her marriage to Mr. Kemp, Dec. 25, 1889. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp moved to Maryville where they lived until 1925 when they moved to the farm north of Pickering.

PAPERS DAILY TO 10 TOWNS

DEMOCRAT-FORUM IS USING EXTENSIVE MOTOR SERVICE.

THREE MORE ADDED

Ravenwood, Parnell and Conception Junction Receiving Afternoon Delivery With Seven Others.

Ten towns in Nodaway County now are receiving The Daily Democrat-Forum by automobile, with three other towns being served by train so that the paper reaches them each evening on the day of publication.

Saturday the service was started to Ravenwood, Parnell and Conception Junction, with Claude Loch, Ravenwood garage man, in charge. This service was made possible only recently by completion of the highway between Maryville and Ravenwood.

Service was started about two years ago to Wilcox, Burlington Junction, Quitman, Skidmore and Graham with the route in charge of Pearl Taylor of Maryville. The papers for Clearmont are hauled to Burlington Junction and there are put on the evening Burlington train for Clearmont, arriving at Clearmont shortly after 7 o'clock in the evening.

Since this service was started, Mr. Taylor has never missed a trip to Burlington Junction. The other towns on this route have been missed a few times on account of rainy weather and bad roads. Maitland will be added to this route as soon as permission is obtained from the postoffice department.

Pickering and Hopkins papers are delivered by Carl Vanscoy, an employe of the Democrat-Forum. These towns have been served almost daily, the trip to Hopkins having been impossible a few times on account of bad roads.

The papers for Arkoe and Barnard, in this county, and Bolckow, Rosendale and Savannah are served by the Burlington passenger train, leaving Maryville at 4:48 o'clock in the afternoon.

Plans for service to the other towns in the county—Guilford, Clyde, Conception, Bedison and Elmo—have not been definitely arranged, but it is hoped soon to be able to serve these places so that every town in the county will have its papers the same evening.

The present automobile routes cover a distance of 139 miles daily.

Very few papers have such a service as is maintained by the Democrat-Forum, and especially in towns the size of Maryville. Train service to other towns in this county is not good for an afternoon daily paper, making the auto service necessary if the towns are served on the same day of publication.

With such a service, The Daily Democrat-Forum is the first newspaper to reach these towns.

A night session of the meeting will not be held.

M. E. ATTACK ON U.S. POLICY

ON RECORD OPPOSING DISCRIMINATORY IMMIGRATION.

GENERAL PLAN IS O. K.

But Church Is Not in Sympathy With Barring Admission or Citizenship "On Grounds of Color."

Kansas City, Mo., May 7.—The Methodist Episcopal conference in session here today went on record as opposing the federal government's discriminatory immigration policy against "certain countries and races."

A resolution protecting the government's policy was introduced by Dr. E. Stanley Jones in behalf of the conference delegation from East India and was adopted by unanimous vote.

While no mention was made of the races against which the immigration laws discriminate, it generally was understood the Indians, Chinese and Japanese were included. Dr. Jones, widely known author, is a Methodist minister in India.

The general policy of redistricting immigration has the aproval of the Methodist conference, the resolution said, but discrimination against certain countries and races is "insidious, un-American and un-Christian."

The resolution asked all Christian citizens to unite in removing as soon as possible "such legislation that restricts immigration and rights of citizenship on grounds of color."

Policy of the government in admitting immigrants on a quota basis was indorsed by the resolution but it pointed out that this policy had not been extended to certain groups and nations.

Business Sessions.

An important week of business sessions loomed for delegates attending the general conference of the Methodist Church today as the second week of the conference opened.

With the organization of the conference practically completed and preliminaries cared for, the delegates were ready to tackle the large issues exjected to come before them. A breathing spell was given yesterday when a memorial service was the only scheduled meeting for the conference.

Four bishops, a bishop's wife, three ministers and two laymen were paid high tribute by the delegates assembled to pay respect to those who had passed on. The bishops honored were William A. Quayle, Thomas Benjamin Nelley, Homer Clyde Stuntz, and George Harvey Bickley.

Committees appointed last week are expected to have reports ready for the conference and many rousing debates are in prospect as discussion will open on the floor, church leaders said.

The resolution, which would recommend laymen delegates at the annual conferences of the church is expected to

Pete Dietz Winner in Amateur Typing

Maryville Boy Sets a Record of 81.65, While Winner Last Year Wrote at Speed of 72.

Pete Dietz, junior in the Maryville high school and the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Dietz, writing at a speed of 81.65 words a minute, won the state amateur typewriting contest at Columbia. The state winner last year made a record of only 72 words a minute.

Dietz also was winner this year of the district contest at the State Teachers College with a record of 73.

Last year at the state contest Dietz won the novice individual contest with a score of 62 words a minute. The winner this year in the same class obtained a record of 61.3. The score made by the Maryville typist was higher than the record for three years before.

Excelsior Springs, in the Maryville district, carried away the novice team state contest with a record of 63.31.

ASK FREEDOM IN ROUMANIA

PEASANTS' PARTY IN GIANT MASS MEETING.

MARCH ON BUCHAREST

Restoration of Constitutional Government Demanded.—Carol Not Mentioned.

Alba Julia, Roumania, May 7.—"Any means" would be justified to overthrow the present government, a giant mass meeting of delegates of the peasants' party declared today in a resolution.

No mention was made of Prince Carol or his candidacy for the throne.

The resolution supplemented those passed at a similar meeting Sunday. It proclaimed the unshakable unity of the Roumanian people, and asserted their readiness "to defend the country with the last drop of their blood." It continued:

"A firm stand must be taken against foreign enemies and against the government's 10 years of anti-Constitutional rule. We demand the restoration of constitutional government.

"The present regime is clinging illegally to the helm of state. Therefore the nation, is justified in employing all means to overthrow such a regime."

March Toward Bucharest.

Berlin, May 7.—Transylvania farmers are marching toward Bucharest, Roumania, the correspondent of the Zeitung Am Mittag telegraphed today from Bekeszaba.

The correspondent, who attended the Alba Julia convention, said he was obliged to cross the Hungarian Frontier in order to send his dispatch.

Other dispatches from Bekeszaba said that the peasants were marching toward Bucharest in two columns, preceded by a fleet of automobiles and trucks. So far, it was said, no clash had occurred with police or troops, whom the government had ordered to make every effort to prevent bloodshed.

Newspaper correspondents characterized the procession "undoubtedly of a revolutionary nature," although it was said, leaders were trying to keep their followers quiet.

It was declared that the peasants started their march after taking this oath:

"We swear by God not to desist our efforts to unseat the government, whose existence is based on a decree extorted in cowardly manner from King Ferdinand on his deathbed."

The decree mentioned was King Ferdinand's dying injunction to the country to support the government of the late Ionnes Bratinau, brother of Vintila Bratianu, the present premier, who succeeded him.

The resolution emphasized that its sponsors were actuated by loyal monarchist sentiments.

"We are trying to avert a justifiable uprising against the throne if the throne continues to display solidarity with the disastrous activities of the present government," it continued.

"The government is not entitled to impose new burdens on the people nor conclude loans under unfavorable conditions."

The resolution demanded that the regency—governing for boy King Michael—force the government to resign and establish a National Farmer's government headed by I. Maniu, Peasants' party leader.

Regret was expressed that previous appeals had been without result.

Lack of mention of Prince Carol during the convention caused many people to believe that his hopes of ascending the throne or of seizing power as regent for his son, King Michael are blasted definitely.

Car Overturns With Three; None Injured

Ford Sedan Driven by Wesley Anderson Is Hit by Iowa Car on South Paving Yesterday Morning.

Three boys, Wesley Anderson of near Bedison, and Richard and Harold Fields of Maryville were slightly scarred and the top and right side of a Ford sedan were damaged in an automobile accident yesterday morning on the pavement south of Maryville.

Anderson, the driver of the car, started to turn east on the road leading past the Engelmann greenhouse when he was hit from the rear by a car described as a special Studebaker bearing an Iowa license. The driver of this car was unknown although he was said to be a travelling salesman for a Des Moines printing goods establishment. His car was damaged very little.

No one was seriously hurt in the crash, although the Ford in which the three boys were riding was turned completely over, landing on its top. Both tires on the right side of the car were blown out all three glasses broken in this and the rear right-hand wheel sprung.

Lives Endangered in Attempt to See Lindy

Flying Colonel Receives Further Proof He Is Outstanding Hero as Crowds Throngs Flying Field.

New York, May 7.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has received fresh proof that he is America's outstanding hero of the air, but it nearly lost the lives of several persons.

Two thousand persons were at Curtiss field yesterday when word got about that Lindbergh was flying over from Mitchel Field in his new Ryan monoplane. When the plane appeared above the field, everyone rushed through the police lines to get a glimpse of the colonel.

Clothing was torn, two women fainted and the crowd surged dangerously close to the whirling propellor of the plane. Lindbergh quickly shut off his motor, but found himself imprisoned in his plane by the crowd. It was fifteen minutes before police could clear a path.

BEGIN APPEAL OF SINCLAIR

ATTORNEYS SAY CONTEMPT SENTENCE IS UNJUST.

A DECISION IN JUNE

If Court of Appeals Does Not Rule Then, It Will Go Over to October.—May Go to Supreme Court.

Washington, May 7.—Harry F. Sinclair's conviction and three months jail sentence for contempt of the senate in refusing to answer the Teapot Dome committee's questions in 1924 are "erroneous and unjust" the oil multi-millionaire's lawyers told the District of Columbia court of appeals today.

The government opposed Sinclair's plea for reversal of the conviction, asserting that it was fundamental that Congress has the right to do whatever is necessary to enable it to participate intelligently in making laws. The government relied chiefly on the U. S. supreme court decision in the Mal Daugherty case, upholding the Senate's power to require testimony which its committees of inquiry deemed necessary.

The Sinclair defense, headed by Martin W. Littleton, charged that the questions of Senator Walsh of Montana, and other committee members really constituted "a fishing expedition for evidence" to aid in the prosecution of the oil cases which were being decided at that time.

May Devide June 4.

The arguments were before Justices Hatfield, Robb and Van Orsdel, and the first possible date of a decision is next June 4. If a decision is not reached by that time none can be announced until the court opens its new term in October. An appeal to the U. S. supreme court in event of a decision adverse to Sinclair would likely delay the final ruling in the case for another six months.

Sinclair was not present for today's argument. U. S. Attorney Leo A. Rover presented the government's case, defending the Teapot Dome investigation as a proper, and legally authorized and the questions put to Sinclair as pertinent and legal.

Rover also rebutted a principle derense contention—that Justice Hitz, who presided at the trial erred in failing to submit to the jury the question whether the Sinclair questions were "pertinent." Rover asserted that the question of pertinency was purely a legal one, and that under the law the jury can rule only on the facts. Justice Hitz ruled at the trial that the questions were pertinent.

Senate Angered Sinclair.

Rover also asserted that the Sinclair plea for mitigation of penalty in view of circumstances had no standing under the Senate contempt law. Sinclair, angered by action of the Senate in adopting a resolution denouncing the oil leases as fraudulent, refused to answer the committee's questions on several points, including his previous testimony to the committee that neither he nor any of his companies had given anything to Secretary of Interior Fall, who had leased him the Teapot Dome naval oil reserves.

Arrested in Iowa on Liquor Charge

Charley Stidd, Paroled From Jail Here on a Year's Sentence, Held at Mount Ayr.

Charley Stidd, who recently was paroled from the county jail, where he was serving a year's sentence for possession of intoxicating liquor, was taken into custody at Mount Ayr as soon as he was released here to serve out the rest of a nine-month's sentence on a booze charge.

The information was learned yesterday by Judge J. H. Sayler, who was talking to some of Stidd's acquaintances at Diagonal, Ia., Stidd's home.

FUNDS RANGE UP TO $11,000

CURTIS HEAVIEST SPENDER OF FIRST EIGHT CANDIDATES.

NO EXPENSE BY BORAH

Senator Norris Pays Out $6 But Not by Choice.—Other Presidential Aspirants to Testify.

Washington, May 7.—Campaign expenditures in the 1928 presidential race, divulged at the opening of the special senate inquiry today, are:

Senator Norris, of Nebraska, $6.00.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, $11,468.67.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, nothing.

Senator George, of Georgia, (approximately) $156.00.

Senator Walsh, of Montant, $1,190.65.

Senator Goff, of West Virginia, (approximately) $60.00.

Washington, May 7.—Eight presidential candidates were examined by the special senate campaign expenditure committee today, revealing expenses incurred so far in the 1928 race as ranging from slightly more than $11,000 for Senator Curtis of Kansas down to $6 for Senator Norris, Neb., and nothing for Senator Borah of Idaho.

Only three had raised campaign money—Curtis of Kansas, revealing receipts of $11,685; Walsh of Montana, $1,075; and Hitchcock of Nebraska, $105.

The witnesses were the four Republicans, Curtis, Borah, Goff of West Virginia, and Norris of Nebraska, and four Democrats, Hitchcock, Walsh, George of Georgia and Hull of Tennessee.

The Statistics.

Their evidence showed following receipts and disbursements:

Curtis, receipts $11,685.00; expenditures $11,466.67.

Norris, receipts none; expenditures $6.00.

Norris, receipts none; expenditures none.

George (approximately) receipts $1,075.00; expenditures $1,190.65.

Goff (approximately) receipts none; expenditures $60.00.

Hitchcock, receipts $1,500; expenditures $1,744.85.

Hull (approximately), receipts none; expenditures $1,000.00.

Borah explained that his state had named him but that otherwise he was not a candidate and had spent nothing; Walsh said he was out of the race; Hull, George, Hitchcock and Goff indicated they planned no campaign efforts outside their own states; and Norris said he did not think his supporters were making any promises on the theory that he would be nominated.

Curtis "Expects to Win."

"I have no understandings with anyone about throwing my strength to any candidate," Curtis said. "I expect to win, and hence I would not make any combinations."

Of personal contributions accepted, Curtis said he received $1,000 from a Mr. Leech, of Lawrence, Kan.; $100 from Eugene Clark; $250 from J. S. Dean; from Mrs. W. J. Curtis and $50 from a Mr. Haines, of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Senator Reed of Missouri sent a letter to Chairman Steiwer notifying him that the Reed treasurer, Ed S. Villmoars of Kansas City, was on his way here to give the committee any information it desired about his expenses.

To Be Impartial.

As Norris started his testimony, Chairman Steiwar made a statement for the record, promising an impartial investigation as a denial of rumors that the committee was "out to get" any of the candidates.

"It is not the duty of Congress to take sides in political contests," Steiwar said. "The committee, therefore, will seek neither to aid nor hurt the campaign of any candidate. We will have an impartial investigation."

Norris said he had spent six dollars because a Nebraska country editor billed him for that amount for an unauthorized advertisement.

"I haven't spent anything else and I haven't authorized anyone to spend anything for me," Norris said. "I hope that editor doesn't print any more advertisements."

Senators Watson, of Indiana, and Reed, of Missouri, will appear later in the week.

To Visit Two Governors.

Wednesday the committee will go to Annapolis to get the testimony of Governor Ritchie and Thursday it will

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

WHY WE'RE UNPOPULAR.

A recent issue of the Literary Digest summarizes a number of articles on the United States which have been appearing in British and European newspapers of late. The tenor of these articles is hardly calculated to make the native Americans swell with pride; indeed, some of them are distressingly bitter.

"The United States is now, I suppose, the only country in the world that no one visits for pleasure," remarks one English writer. "After it had enjoyed a century or so of material prosperity, Europe recognized that here was the largest and most gullible public to be found anywhere. And Europe proceeded to exploit it, and has been exploiting it ever since."

One London paper prints a cartoon entitled "The Only Royalties that Americans Love." It shows four dissolute-looking figures, labelled, respectively, "Pork King," "Movie King," "Bootleg King" and "Holdup King." A French writer complains that America is densely ignorant of Europe.

This sort of thing need not be disturbing if one takes it in the proper light. Underlying all of it one seems to detect a twinge or two of jealousy. There is back of it, in addition, the very quality of which the French writer complains; ignorance.

When the World War closed, Europe began to realize a new fact; that while it had been paying for its long regime of provincialism and chauvinistic nationalism with four years of death and destruction, the United States had sped past it in the matter of material well-being. Markets that were exclusively European were now getting their goods from America. The banking center of the world had moved across the Atlantic. The war which Europe had brought on herself had dealt a crippling blow to her old supremacy in finance, commerce and industry

This has been hard to swallow. The result has been that we have not been especially popular overseas. No European publicist would think of letting slip an opportunity to lambaste us. It doesn't hurt us particularly, and if it soothes a little ruffled vanity overseas why should we complain?

Added to this is the fact that England and Europe know almost nothing about us. They accept a "Big Bill" Thompson as a typical American mayor, and view the antics of a movie magnate or a coal oil Johnny on a spree in Paris as the normal behavior of the average American. They tell themselves that our worst moving picture films depict us at our best.

We needn't get irritated by all of this. There may come a change. Some day Europe may stir up a new war for itself; and when that day comes every nation will be wooing us with honeyed phrases, telling us that we are the finest, bravest, most self-sacrificing people on earth.

And if we're wise we'll take that with a grain of salt, too.

BARBS

They celebrated Shakespeare's birthday at Stratford-on-Avon the other day. Odd, but there were no addresses by prizefighters.

The spelling-bee season must be a failure. We haven't heard of any contests won by dogs.

Headlines you never see—EGYPT MUST SHIFT FOR HERSELF, SAYS BRITAIN.

Red and green lights regulated, like traffic, the addresses of speakers at the Methodist convention in Kansas City. The speakers were all right, of course, according to their lights.

A cow in Illinois fought a train and knocked the fireman unconscious. Maybe it was an argument about Frank O. Lowden.

Senator Fess is keynoter for the Republicans, Mr. Bowers for the Democrats. Their jobs will be slightly different this year, the senator saying nothing while Mr. Bowers must say everything.

The Campaign Log

May 7—By United Press.

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the anti-saloon league, in a speech at Washington said that if Governor Smith of New York received the Democratic presidential nomination he would be defeated by 10,000,000 votes.

Returns from Texas precinct conventions indicated the state Democratic conventions to be held in Beaumont probably would name an uninstructed delegation to the Democratic national convention.

Eight candidates for the presidential nominations in the Republican and Democratic parties have been called to testify at the opening meeting of the senate campaign investigating committee today.

Great interest was manifest in Indiana on the eve of the state primary election tomorrow at which a record vote is expected. Both Senator James E. Watson and friends of Herbert Hoover were optimistic.

Teamwork Is Theme at C. of C. Meeting

American Prosperity Dependent Upon All Sections, Business Men of Nation Are Told.

Washington, May 7.—Co-operation of business interests to promote local and national prosperity will be the central theme of leading business men of the nation who will attend the 16th annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce opening here today.

Under the general heading, "Teamwork for Prosperity," all phases of business co-operation will be considered by the 1,500 business organizations represented. Prominent executives will talk on the new problems of mass production, group buying and selling, and the increased competition between industries.

"By working together locally and within industries and nationally through the national chamber," the chamber said, "American business men are helping the country to achieve and maintain prosperity.

"American prosperity is organic. Do injury to one section of the country or one branch of economic endeavor and it is felt throughout the organism. For example, the adverse effects of the Mississippi flood ramified throughout the country."

Poindexter Hopes to Re-Enter Senate

Former Washington Statesman Resigns as Ambassador to Peru to Make Race for Old Seat.

Olympia, Wash., May 7.—Proving that attempted "comebacks" are not confined to the pugilistic world, Ex-Senator Miles Poindexter, once Washington's favorite son in a presidential campaign, but soon after repudiated as senator, is back home campaigning to regain his old seat in the senate.

Poindexter resigned his position as ambassador to Peru which he had held for five years, to make another race for the senate.

In Eastern Washington Poindexter in his effort to recover the toga from Senator C. C. Dill who wrestled it from him, is reminding the farmers of his work towards farm relief and the Columbia River irrigation project. In western Washington he is discussing shipping and foreign trade.

In the Republican party Poindexter is facing as his chief opponent Kenneth McIntosh, who resigned as chief justice of the Washington supreme court to campaign for the senatorial nomination.

Good Roads Bring New Dollars Into State, Commission Argues

"It is not the swapping of dollars that creates prosperity in a community, but if is the new dollars coming in that increases the community's wealth. Missouri is now in a position, better than ever before, to attract the new dollar. The tourist has the dollar," says this week's "Roadio News," issued by the Missouri state highway department.

"The increasing mileage of improved state roads is luring more and more tourists to this state. The tourist business bids fair to becoming a leading industry. As suggested, it will bring prosperity to many a small community, which for lack of adequate transportation has heretofore been out of the main stream of progress and has stagnated. Already communities over the state are responding to this new stimulus.

"We are just beginning to get some conception of the importance and a fair estimate of the extent of this tourist business. In 1926 the State Highway Department, in connection with its traffic counts, passed out a large number of post-card questionnaires, directed to the out of state tourists, asking them, among other things, the approximate number of days spent in Missouri, the mileage traveled in the state, and the total money spent during their stay in Missouri. 2100 of these cards were returned to the Department from which the following general conclusions were drawn. The average tourist spent 10.7 days in Missouri, traveled 52 miles a day, and spent $21.50 during his stay in Missouri.

"This information, taken in connection with traffic counts conducted by the Department, led to the conclusion that 2,808,400 visitors spent $61,000,000 in Missouri during 1926. Traffic counts conducted in 1927 led to the conclusion that the number of out-of-state visitors approximated 3,700,000 and the expenditures totaled $80,000,000 for the year.

"These tourists have to be housed, fed and entertained during their stay in Missouri. They also require gasoline, oil, and car repairs. Here is a new demand for Missouri products that did not exist a few years ago. The money that is paid to the filling stations, garages, repair shops, hotels, restaurants, theaters, and ice cream parlors as well as to the farmers along the way filters back in many ways to a large part of the population in the community. Those communities which are alive to the possibilities of developing tourist trade are beginning to show signs of prosperity. The quicker we can develop this business for the state at large, the sooner will all of our communities be benefitted. This tourist business depends primarily on good roads.

"Good roads have done more than any other one thing to invite the tourist to Missouri and made his stay satisfactory. The speeding up of our road program will be justified along by the increase in the number of tourists who seek our beauty spots and leave their money behind them as they go.

"It is true that $80,000,000 does not represent clear profit; for it has cost something to raise the chickens, eggs, and hams that the tourists consume in large quantities as well as furnish the other commodities which they buy. Some small fraction of this $80,000,000 may be reasonably assumed as profit. Probably 10 per cent would be a conservative average for all classes of commodities. This would give us an annual net income of $8,000,000 from the tourist business. Capitalizing this annual net income at 5 per cent we find that $160,000,000 might justifiably be invested to secure this income. This is more than half the cost of the state road system of which the tourist business may be considered as only a valuable by-product."

Frenchmen Ask Auto Tax on Sunday Only

Paris, May 5.—Factory workers, clerks and small tradesmen have petitioned the French parliament to be allowed to pay one-day-a-week automobile taxes instead of the heavy levies now collected from motorists.

They contend that, working all week, they would like to own cars for use only on Sundays. They would pay Sunday taxes and keep their machines under seal the rest of the week.

Motor car dealers believe such a law would result in the sale of 1,000,000 more cars within two years.

Evangelists Elect Rev. R. E. Snodgrass

Maryville Minister Is Made President Of National Association at Columbus Convention.

The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, former pastor of the First Christian church here, has been elected president of the National Evangelistic Association, according to the Christian Evangelist. The Association held its convention at Columbus, Ohio, April 16 and 17. The Evangelist said regarding the Rev. Mr. Snodgrass.

"His election insures for the association the high type of leadership that has characterized it from the beginning. It was during his six years' pastorate at Maryville that his vision of the possibilities of evangelism, and his genius as an organizer and a preacher of the evangel that established a conspicuous county-wide record in Nodaway county. His entrance into the general evangelistic field is no doubt traceable to that pronounced success. For two years he has been constantly engaged in large and in small churches, and in each case has more than realized the hopes of the churches which he has served, both in soul winning and in building up congregations to larger undertakings. The popularity of Brother Snodgrass is growing because of the qualifications referred to, augmented by a high degree of geniality and optimism."

Sees Life as Quest for "Better Things"

But Vices Are Weights Upon Us, the Rev. Guy L. Prather Declares in Sermon Yesterday.

"The heart is always hungry, seeking, hoping. God has made man so," the Rev. Guy L. Prather said in his sermon yesterday morning at the First Baptist Church. This explains, he said, "why men explore the whole earth, pry into the remotest heavens, and study men in all relations."

"Thus too, men seek various conditions and positions for themselves which they consider better. Men vary in their thought of what is better, hence vary in the quest of life," the Reverend Mr. Prather said.

"The Bible urges us to seek the things above, where Christ is, seated on the right hand of God. Heavenly things, spiritual things, the things of Christ, are urged upon us as the best, as above us, as worthy of our earnest search."

The Reverend Mr. Prather described such a fellowship as resulting in safety from sin and death and bringing life into "freedom and hope eternal."

He declared the highest is never attained without the God who "opens the eyes, guides the thought, moulds the life, and spurs the hope."

"In these things above, are included the fine elements of Christian characters, compassion, kindness, humility, patience, forgiveness, love, peace.

"There are difficulties in the way. Our vices are weights upon us. They cloud the mind and dim the eye and lead us off the trail into forbidden paths." Then the Reverend Mr. Prather urged that the mind be set and diligent attention be given to a quest. He cited the pioneers of the West, of the air, and others who braved difficulties.

The College Bible Class was the largest in attendance for many months. The beginners department, with an attendance of twenty-four, gave an exercise as the closing part of the Sunday school hour.

The B. Y. P. U. had forty-three present, with a good program led by Miss Marian Gann. Several new members were added to the Union.

Traffic is routed through Main street of Burlington Junction.

When the culverts are completed east of Burlington, five in number, this will conclude the culvert work on this project.

The grading crew after finishing the grading through the James Messbarger place, will again begin work on the west end of the project.

The weather so far has been ideal for the work and if it is continued the project will be finished in record time.

L. M. Eek Speaks at Grant City Dedication; Describes Building

The American people must not become arrogant nor strive for the subjugation of other peoples but should aid them in attaining the standards set in the United States, L. M. Eek, of the faculty of the State Teachers College, said in an address at the dedication Friday night of the new community building at Grant City.

Each nation has its own problems to solve, but it may take generations, Mr. Eek said, and during this time it may be necessary for the United States to defend its ideals. Mr. Eek, in concluding hoped it would "not be necessary to erect a memorial for a new war."

Describing the new memorial, Mr. Eek said that it was through the cooperation of the John Barnes post No. 92 of the American Legion and the citizens of Grant City that bonds had been voted and a beautiful community building erected.

Got Money's Worth.

"The building cost $25,000, but one would thing that it cost twice that amount," Mr. Eek said.

"The building is of red brick, trimmed in white. It includes a large auditorium with a large stage suitable for the presentation of any play. This room can be converted into a gymnasium in a few minutes, as the chairs are in sections of four which can be folded up, placed on low trucks and rolled underneath the stage.

"The city library is housed in one room, and opposite this room is a room devoted to the City Council. On the second floor the American Legion post has a large room for its post quarters. In the basement is a large dining room, kitchen, show baths and lavatories, a boiler room, as the building is steam heated, and a large room for the use of the city fire department. This building is practical as well as beautiful and will be the center of all civic undertakings and celebrations. Grant City can be extremely proud of this achievement.

"Sixty days prior to the last city election the American Legion conceived the idea of putting over this project. With the citizens helping, the bonds carried three to one. While there was some opposition, those at first opposed have seen what has been accomplished and are now as enthusiastic as the first loyal supporters.

800 at Dedication.

"This building was dedicated to those who sacrificed their lives in the World War. At the dedication services Friday night more than 800 persons sat in the auditorium."

The speakers were Dan Nee, state commander of the American Legion; Jerry Dougan, adjutant of the Missouri department; and Mr. Eck. L. B. Day, commander of the John Barnes post presided. A basket dinner was served at 6 o'clock in the dining room to more than 400 persons.

In his address, Mr. Eek said:

"The people of the United States are the most boastful people of the world. Our undisputed industrial supremacy and high standard of living naturally go to our heads. But with all this advantage the Americans are doubtful as to the future of our country. We want the United States to keep our high standards of living both for ourselves and for our children. We have the most sparsely settled country of all the great nations, a factor which counts heavily in our high standards of living. We passed our immigration limitations that our land might be reserved for the children of those now residing in this country.

"Opposed to this idea of America for Americans is the theory of the 'teeming millions'. This theory is that when the population of a country becomes so large that the country cannot support it, that country should have the right to expand its borders and settle in other countries less densely populated. This idea naturally clashes with ours and if the Americans are not adequately prepared to defend their borders against such aggression we must surrender our ideal.

Right to Settle Own Problems.

"We believe that each nation should have the right to settle its own internal problems. That it must settle its problems of overpopulation within its own borders and if the population is too great, means must be adopted to adjust and control the reproduction of that population. This end can only be attained by the education of all the countries of the world and by careful and just diplomatic relations among nations.

"We Americans must not become arrogant, must not strive for the subjugation of other peoples, but should aid them in every way, financially and morally.

"This cannot be done by boasting, 'by rubbing it in' as it were, but by setting the standards and then aiding the other nations to attain the same ends. This will take many generations. Therefore, during this period of education and evolution, we must be adequately prepared at all times to defend our ideals and our country.

"Let us hope, that never again will it be necessary to erect a memorial for a new war, but that these tremendous problems of adjustment may be worked out in a peaceful manner to the ultimate good and elevated standards of living of all nations."

Need Americanization, Rev. Lakin Declares

Christian Minister Takes Rap at Prohibition Opponents in a Home Missions Sermon.

"America First," sermon yesterday morning by the Rev. L. E. Lakin at the First Christian church, was an appeal for American missions.

"No one, I take it," the pastor ad interim said, "will deny the fact that our first duty is where we live.

"Judaism was the gospel of concentration. Circumstances demanded such a program; God commanded it. It served a purpose. The tares of unbelief were eradicated in one small section at least. A surprise, but the last words of the Christ were words with that goal in mind: 'Tarry in Jerusalem.'

"Our Jerusalem is our home. To Missouri disciples, Missouri is our Judea, our country is our Samaria.

"America the beautiful! America first among the nations of the world! Heirs of all the ages, we!

"But it may be we are living in a fool's paradise. Some have begun to wonder. Heathenism over yonder is bad, but heathenism 'over here' is just as bad. Anarchism, boshevism there to be condemned, but here what word must be spoken?

"We once thought that by transplanting the foreigner over here he would become an American. Our melting pot would accomplish the wonders, to our way of thinking. But we the awakenin gto facts that are startling. We need Americanization.

The minister here took a thrust at the foes of prohibition.

"Election time,' he said, 'is at hand. Politics is boiling. A motley crowd is pleading for public favor. The worth while man is often relegated. He will not stoop to questionable things. He loves truth, virtue, honesty, sobriety, more than office or public favors.

"But some now even preach nullification in order to appeal to the rabble. They publicly advocate lawlessness in order to gain place. Down with such! Here is one who will vote against any and every man of such type.

"And more, no 'wet' will get my vote, no matter how loyal he may be to my principles, whether I am loyal to my party or not.

"I am thinking," he concluded, "of 'America First,' not with a selfish motive, but with an altruistic purpose. I am thinking of America, not as a haven but as a savior. I am preaching 'America First,' for the sake of humanity."

Will Seek a Ban on Teaching Evolution

Chicago, May 7.—Legislation which would ban the theory of evolution in every tax-supported American school will be sought by the Christian Fundamentalist association at its tenth world convention here.

The convention, which will be held May 13-20, will draft a program for nation-wide converted action toward that end, Dr. W. W. Ayer, leader of the movement, said.

Modernistic teachings of colleges and universities were blamed by Dr. Ayer for much of the lawlessness and crime.

Honor Student Ends Life; "Never Lived"

Chicago, May 7.—Months and years of intense, uninterrupted study and scholastic achievement brought their reward to Miss Ruth Good, 21-year-old co-ed of the University of Washington, but ill health caused by the work made her despondent.

She was made an honor student. Her record was held up as an example to her classmates. A nervous breakdown followed and Ruth withdrew from school.

With her mother, Mrs. Alice Good of Kalispe, Mont., she came east to consult specialists.

Yesterday in a hotel suite here, where they were staying, the girl swallowed poison. Beside her body lay a note to her father.

"I'm sorry," it read. "But I never really lived."

Gene Meston of Des Moines, Ia., was visiting with Henry Blanchard of Maryville today.

The Most Expensive Thing You Ever Bought

Now honestly, what was the most expensive thing you ever bought? Wasn't it the dress, or the pair of shoes that you put away in the closet after a few wearings — the article that didn't quite please you when you got it home.

Sometimes this is because your mind was too uncertain, but generally the article did not look as well after a few wearings as you thought it would.

That is exactly the reason we do not sell "seconds," job lots or bankrupt stocks. Our merchandise must stand the most rigid inspection before we offer it to you. We don't want any of those "expensive purchases" to be from our store, if we can help it.

GIRL ALONE

COPYRIGHT 1928 BY NEA SERVICE

By ANNE AUSTIN, AUTHOR OF "SAINT AND SINNER"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SALLY FORD is "farmed out" to CLEM CARSON, farmer, the summer she is 16 and leaves the orphanage, the only home she knows from the time she is four. She meets DAVID NASH, athletic and student of scientific farming, who is working on the Carson farm for the summer. David likes the orphan, openly prefering her to PEARL, Carson's daughter. This angers Pearl and Carson.

When Carson makes insulting remarks about Sally, David hits him.

David and Sally, fearing Carson is dead, run away. At daylight they find themselves near a carnival train. Sally is overjoyed to find EDDIE COBB, former inmate of the Home, who runs away to join the carnival. He asks WINFIELD BYBEE, owner of the carnival, to make a place for them. David is placed in the cook's car, while MRS. BYBEE, the real manager of the carnival, dresses Sally in satin trousers and tunic and sends her on the platform as Princess Lalla, crystal gazer.

The midget, "PITTY SING," asks Sally to carry her to the car for her supper. Sally gladly responds and nestles the little woman in her arms. Her eyes catch the headlines of the paper the midget holds. She sees a name she has come to fear and loathe —the name of Carson.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 16

When Sally had carefully deposited the dignified little midget, "Pitty Sing," in the infant-sized high-chair drawn up to a corner table in the dining car, she hurried to the box car of a kitchen which took up the other end of the car, the newspaper trembling in her hand. She found David alone in the kitchen, slicing onions into a great pan of frying Swiss steak. Onion-induced tears streamed down his cheeks, but at the sound of Sally's urgent voice he turned.

"Oh, David, he wasn't killed!" she cried, taking care to keep her voice low. "It's in the paper—look! But he says, oh, David, he says the most terrible things about us, and the police are looking for us—"

"Hey, there, honey! Steady!" David commanded gently, as he groped for a handkerchief to wipe his streaming eyes. "Now, let's see the paper. Thank God I didn't commit murder—what the devil!" he interrupted himself, as his eyes traveled hurriedly down the front page. "By heaven, I almost wish I had killed him! The dirty, lying skunk!"

"FARMER ACCUSES HIRED MAN OF ASSAULT TO KILL" was the streamer head-line across the entire page. Below, two streamer lines of heavy italic type informed the reader: "CLEM CARSON SUFFERS BROKEN LEG FOR ATTEMPTING TO PROTECT ORPHANED GIRL FROM UNIVERSITY STUDENT WORKING ON FARM."

The "story," in small type, followed: "Clem Carson, prosperous farmer, living 18 miles from the capital city, is suffering from a broken leg, a broken nose and numerous cuts and bruises, sustained late Saturday afternoon when, Carson alleges, he broke into the garret bedroom of Miss Sally Ford, 16-year-old girl from the state orphanage, who was working on the Carson farm for her board during the summer vacation. According to Carson's story, told to reporters Sunday night after a warrant for the arrest of Sally Ford and David Nash had been issued by the sheriff's office, the farmer had been suspicious for several days that one of his hired men, David Nash, A. & M. student during the school year, was paying too marked attention to the young girl, for whose safety Carson had pledged himself to the State.

"On Saturday afternoon early the members of Mr. Carson's family including his wife, brother, mother and daughter, had come to town for shopping, leaving Miss Ford alone in the house. The two other hired men had also gone to the city, leaving Carson and young Nash at work on the farm. Carson alleges that he saw Nash enter the house late Saturday afternoon and that when the young man did not return to his work in the barn within a reasonable time, Carson left his own work to investigate, fearing for the safety of the girl under his protection.

"After unsuccessfully searching the main floor of the house, Carson alleges, he went to the garret, heard voices coming from Miss Ford's room, tried the door and found it locked. He knocked, was refused admittance, according to the story told the sheriff, then, determined to save the girl from the man, he climbed to the roof of the porch and made his way to the small window of the great room, from which he saw Miss Ford and the Nash boy in a compromising position. When he tried to enter the room through the window Carson alleges that he was brutally assaulted by young Nash, who, by the way, was boxing champion of the sophomore class at A. & M. A smashing blow from young Nash's fist sent the farmer crashing through the window, and down the sloping roof to the ground.

"In the fall, Carson's left leg was broken above the knee. He was still unconscious when Dr. John E. Salter, a physician living ten miles from the Carson farm on the road to the capital, arrived at the deserted farm, summoned by a mysterious male voice by telephone. The sheriff's theory, as well as the doctor's, is that young Nash, fearful that he had seriously injured the farmer, summoned medical help before leaving with the girl.

"A warrant for the arrest of David Nash has been issued by the sheriff, charging the young student with assault with intent to kill and with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The warrant for Miss Ford's arrest charges moral delinquency. Since she is a ward of the state until her eighteenth birthday, she is also liable to arrest on the simple charge of running away from the farm on which the state orphanage authorities had placed her for the summer."

Sally, trembling so that her teeth chattered, watched David as he read the entire story. His young face became more and more grim as he read. When he had finished the shameful, hideously untrue account of what had really been a piece of superb gallantry on his part, he crumpled the paper slowly between the fingers of his big hand as if that hand were crushing out the life of the man who had lied so monstrously. Then, lifting a lid of the big coal range, he thrust the crumpled mass of paper into the flames.

"But—what are we going to do, David?" Sally whispered, her eyes searching his grim face piteously. "They'll send me to the reformatory if they catch me, and you—you—oh, David! They'll send you to prison for years and years! I wish you'd never laid eyes on me! I'd rather die than have you come to harm through me."

She sagged against the narrow shelf which served as a kitchen table, weeping forlornly.

"Don't cry, Sally," David pleaded gently. "It's not your fault. I'd do it all over again if anyone else dared insult you. Oh, the devil! These onions are burning up! Skip along now and don't worry. I'm cook tonight. Buck's on a spree. Keep a stiff upper lip honey. In all that brown paint and that rig, you could walk into the sheriff's office and he'd do nothing worse than ask you to read his palm."

"But you, David, you!" she protested, trying to choke off her sobs. "You're not disguised—"

"I'll stick to the kitchen. Nobody'll think of looking for me here." He grinned at her cheerfully. "Remember, Pop Bybee's on our side. He took us in when he thought I'd killed a man. I don't suppose he'll turn on us now, particularly since you're such a riot as Princess Lalla. I've been hearing how big you're going over in the Palace of Wonders."

"Honestly, David?" she brightened. "Do you like me dressed up like this?" and she made him a little curtsey.

"You sweet, sweet kid," he laughed at her tenderly. "Like you like that? You're adorable! But I like your own wild-rose complexion better. Now scoot or I'll be put in irons for spoiling the supper."

Sally fled, but not before she had blown him an audacious kiss from the tips of her gilded-nailed fingers.

Winfield Bybee had entered the dining car during her talk with David and was seated at his own table, his thin, hatchet-faced wife opposite him. When he saw his new "Princess Lalla" almost skipping down the aisle, her eyes sparkling with joy at David's unexpected praise and tenderness, he muttered something to Mrs. Bybee, then beckoned the fantastically clad little figure to his table.

"Would her royal highness honor me and Mrs. Bybee with her presence at dinner this evening?" he boomed, his blue eyes twinkling.

When she had seated herself, after a little flurry of thanks, Bybee leaned toward her and spoke in a confidential undertone: "Me and the wife have seen that piece in the papers about you and Dave, Sally. What about it? Who's lying? You and the boy—or Carson?"

Sally had turned the little black lace veil back upon the jeweled-gilt crown, so that her big eyes showed like two round, polished sapphires set in bronze. Bybee, searching them with his keen, pale blue eyes, could find in them no guile, no cloud of guilt.

"David and I told you the truth, Mr. Bybee," she said steadily, but her lips trembled childishly. "You believe us, don't you? David is good, good!"

"All right," Bybee nodded his acceptance of her truthfulness. "Now what was that you was telling me and the wife about your mother?"

Sally's heart leaped with hope. "She—my mother—lived here in Stanton, Mr. Bybee. I have her address, the one she gave the orphanage 12 years ago when she put me there. But Miss Pond, who works in the office at the Home, said they had investigated and found she had moved away right after she put me in the orphanage. But I thought—I hoped—I could find out something while I'm here. But I suppose it would be too dangerous—I might get caught—and they'd send me to the reformatory—"

"Haven't I told you I'm not going to let 'em bother you?" Bybee chided her, beetling his brows in a terrific frown. "Now, my idea is this—

"My idea, Winfield Bybee!" his wife interrupted tartly. "Always taking credit. That's you all over! My idea, Sally, is for me to scout around the neighborhood where your mother used to live and see if I can pick up any information for you. Land knows a girl alone like you needs some folks of her own to look after her. Wouldn't do for you to go around asking questions, but I'll make out like I'm trying to find out where my long-lost sister, Mrs. Ford, is. What was her first name? Got that, too!"

"Her name was Nora," Sally said softly. "Mrs. Nora Ford, aged 28 then—12 years ago. Oh, Mrs. Bybee, you're both so good to me! Why are you so good to me?" she added ingenuously.

"Maybe," Mrs. Bybee answered brusquely, "it's because you're a sweet kid, without any flirty nonsense about you. That is," she added severely, her sharp grey eyes flicking from Sally's eager face to Bybee's, "you'd better not let me catch you making eyes at this old Tom Cat of mine!"

"Now, Ma," Bybee flushed and squirmed, "don't tease the poor kid. Can't you see she's clear gone on this Dave chap of hers? She wouldn't even know I was a man if I didn't wear pants. Don't mind her, Sally. She's your friend, too, and she'll try to get on your ma's tracks tomorrow morning before show time."

Battle for Indiana's Delegates Tomorrow

Watson's Headquarters Predict 100,000 Majority, While Hoover Forces Also Are Confident.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—Aroused by one of the most heated campaigns in the state's history, Indiana voters are expected to cast its greatest primary election vote tomorrow.

The conclusion of the fight between Senator James E. Watson, favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination, and the forces behind Herbert Hoover found each group predicting that its candidate would sweep the state.

The battle for Indiana's thirty-three delegates to the Republican national convention completely overshadowed the lesser political skirmishes between state candidates.

The contest between the Hoover and Watson suporters has been so close that most political observers found little on which to base their predictions of the outcome.

The Hoover forces, demanding that Indiana follow the example of Illinois, have based their campaign upon the corruption issue and have appealed to the voters for a mass uprising against the old political order. Oscar Foellinger of Fort Wayne, campaign manager for the secretary of commerce, predicted an overwhelming Hoover victory.

"Hoover will carry the state by a margin of between 75,000 and 100,000 votes," he said.

Senator Watson, however, will be supported at the polls by what is generally considered one of the most efficient political organizations ever formed. Many of the leaders identified with the Watson machine have become embroiled in the last two years in scandals, but the senator's campaign leaders are confident that this will not prove harmful to his popular strength.

M. Bert Thurman, head of Watson's primary organization, said Watson would receive more votes than he got in the last senate race, approximately 100,000.

go to New York or Albany to hear Governor Al Smith.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover and former Governor Lowden, of Illinois, will be heard later.

Afterward the committee will call in the campaign managers, treasurers and money-raisers of those candidates who have such officials. They will be questioned to ascertain if anyone has been spending too much money in the campaign; whether it has been properly spent and who the financial "angels" of the candidates really are.

The committee, unlike other Senate investigating committees, is not on the trail of any serious reports or rumors that any of the candidates or their managers have been misbehaving. It is merely fulfilling the obligation imposed upon it by the senate, to detect any possible misbehaving.

Because of recent advertising given the Vare and Smith primary expenditures, all candidates were warned far ahead of time that they could expect to be submitted to careful investigation this year.

M. E. ATTACK ON U. S. POLICY

be released from committee this week. Another issue that may arise is the granting of power to native churches in helping to name missionaries.

Trial to Reconvene.

Meanwhile the trial of Bishop Anton Bast, of Copenhagen, was due to be reconvened in secret session after a week-end recess. No decision in the case is expected for ten days. It is intimated, however, that witnesses may be called this week to supplement the documentary evidence presented before the seventeen jurors, who are considering the charges of irregularities lodged against the Danish divine.

Another report that will provide much discussion is that to be given by the committee on temperance, prohibition and public morals. As scores of memorials have been presented this group, it is unlikely that the committee can report before early next week.

From this committee is expected to come a broadminded policy of reform—no violent denunciations or unreasonable demands concerning the conduct of persons. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, predicted.

New Policy Better.

"The new policy of 'let your conscience be your guide,' instituted by the Methodist church four years ago, has been more successful than the 'thou shalt not' restrictions imposed on certain evils," Dr. Wilson told the United Press. "Conscience restrains better than law."

Efforts to curb the use of cigarettes among minors, demands that the political parties endorse dry candidates and platforms; a demand for more decency—and not national censorship—on the stage and screen, and the condemnation of war as an unnecessary and futile way to settle disputes is expected to be contained in the report of the committee on morals, Dr. Wilson believes.

Polar Flight not to Be Made for 4 Days

Crew of the Italia Said to Have Been Exhausted on Dirigible's Arrival at King's Bay.

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, May 7.—Commander Umberto Nobile's flight to the polar region will not be made for at least four days, it was indicated today.

After Nobile's dirigible, Italia, arrived here Sunday from Vadsoe, Norway, the crew immediately retired. They were said to be exhausted after the long hours in the air on the 1,700-mile flight from Stolp, Germany.

The exhaustion of the crew, it was believed, would prevent any immediate start on the polar journey.

Also it was learned today that Nobile plans to have arctic equipment on journey in case a forced landing should become necessary.

The big dirigible made a good landing here although cross winds swept the district. The Citta di Milano, supply ship for the expedition, was here and the crew aided in bringing the vessel to a safe landing and subsequent berthing in the special hangar.

The Citta di Milano has been unable as yet to reach shore because of packed ice. Members of her crew was forced to walk over the ice to assist in caring for the Italia.

Ruth Bryan Owen in Congress Race

Daughter of Late Commoner Expects to Wipe Out Defeat in Florida District.

Miami, Fla., May 4.—Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, is campaigning for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the fourth district of Florida and expects to wipe out one defeat with victory.

During the last political battle, Mrs. Owen watched the nomination slip from her grasp by so slim a margin that it was days after the polls closed before she learned her opponent, Joseph Sears, had been named the Democratic candidate with a majority of a few hundred votes.

It was the specific district of Key West which swung the tide of battle away from Mrs. Owen. This year, however, the Ruth Bryan Owen clubs in south Florida have sprung up on all sides and political prophets are predicting an easy victory for her.

An Odd Campaign.

Mrs. Owen, mother and grandmother conducts an odd sort of campaign. This is due, perhaps, to the fact that she is as well posted and conversant with governmental business as few men are. She stumps the state in "ladylike" fashion, refusing to sling political mud.

Her public speaking class at the University of Miami figures largely. A score of students, boys and girls, are out through the district carrying the banner of Mrs. Owen. She herself, tours the state in a flivver.

At home she has the interests of her family, a daughter, a grandchild and a son. Her husband died recently from a lingering illness contracted with the British army in the world War. Mrs. Owen had served as a Red Cross nurse overseas.

Active in Community Life.

Mrs. Owen is as active in community and women's affairs as she is in matters of state. She is a member of nearly all the women's organizations of Greater Miami and Coral Gables where she maintains her residence.

Oddly enough Mrs. Owen seems to have as strong support from men as from women in her campaign here. She does not believe a woman forfeits her interest in her home by filling a political job. Rather she believes the two are necessarily interlocked, one fitting nicely in with the other.

The advantage of early political training by her father has given Mrs. Owen a commanding knowledge of government. Her campaign platform includes support of any bill designed to aid ex-soldiers and Federal aid in drainage of the Everglades.

FAVOR CHANGE IN FLOOD BILL

CONGRESS CONFEREES ACCEPT PRESIDENT'S SUGGESTIONS.

COOLIDGE WOULD SIGN

Amendments Provide Federal Government Would Pay Cost of Acquiring Floodways.

Washington, May 7.—House and Senate flood conferees agreed after fifteen minutes discussion late today to include amendments newly suggested by President Coolidge in the pending Jones-Reid bill.

Chairman Jones of the Senate conferees said he believed Mr. Coolidge would sign the bill as amended.

The only important amendment provides that the federal government would pay cost of acquiring floodways only over right-of-way where flood waters have not previously run.

The other amendments relate to the same problem.

Jones presented the agreement to the Senate immediately and asked that the changes be printed so that the Senate could take the conference report up tomorrow for final adoption. The House also is expected to act speedily on the report.

Reid explained the compromise provides that the government acquire flowage rights only where floodways are created through land not hitherto flooded and not considered natural floodways. The government would not have to acquire rights in land considered a natural floodway, that is, land hitherto subject to flood when the Mississippi has broken its banks.

The bill, as it stands, requires the government to acquire flowage rights in all floodways.

Light Company Here Buys Rosendale Line

Jefferson City, May 4.—An order issued yesterday by the state public service commission granting authority to the Maryville Electric Light and Power Company at Maryville to purchase an electric transmission line in Andrew County from the Rosendale Electric Light Company at Rosendale for $3,000. The line is about four miles long and runs south and east of Bolckow in Andrew County.

Princess Elizabeth Sets Baby Fashions

London, May 5.—Just as the Prince of Wales establishes fashions for men so does his little niece, Princess Elizabeth, two-year-old daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, inspire styles for babies. The little princess recently appeared in her carriage, snugly tucked in with a lynx rug, a present from her grandfather, the King. Many of the big stores were at once bombarded with orders for lynx rugs.

"Princess Elizabeth pink" is a popular spring color for infants because of the frequent appearance of the royal baby in rosy velvet.

Watford, Eng., May 5.—A competition to decide what young woman in this village had the most beautiful ankles was the feature of a recent social event.

A curtain was dropped to within a foot of the floor and the contestants walked back and forth behind the curtain.

Slowly the five judges weeded out the less shapely ankles. Finally only three contestants remained. Then the curtain was raised to reveal the identity of the winners.

Piles Now Cured Without Surgery

Every sufferer from piles or other rectal troubles should write for a new 68-page book on these ailments that is being distributed free and postpaid by Dr. O. A. It explains the new ambulant method that has cured more than 15,000 sufferers from piles without surgery, cautery, burning, acids, ligature, electricity or other harsh, painful means. Yet the piles are removed and cured cleanly, entirely and permanently. Ailments like nervousness, irritability, pain in the back, groin, head; stomach, liver and kidney troubles; constipation, run-down condition, female complaints and a host of others that rectal troubles so often cause, are usually cured, too, when the piles are cured. No matter how long you have suffered or how severe your condition, be sure to write Dr. O. A. Johnson, Room 134, 1324 Main St., Kansas City, Mo., and this valuable book will be sent you without cost or obligation.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, May 7.—Nervous trading which sent prices 3 cents above Saturday's close shortly after the opening and which after prices closing under Saturday's close featured the wheat pit on the board of trade today. Corn followed wheat but showed more strength while oats were comparatively firm. Provisions were slightly lower.

The closing found wheat ¼ to ⅝c off; corn ranging from ¼c down to ⅛c gain and oats off ⅛ to ½c.

Reports of a large winter wheat crop in Kansas together with reports that the weather is too dry for spring wheat influenced the market. Price changes were rapid and confusing. Export demand was light. The cash market with receipts of 104 cars was ½c higher.

Corn fluctuated with wheat but showed more strength. Receipts 390 cars, the largest in some time, but demand continues good and the cash market was ½ cent higher.

Local traders and commission houses brought on the recessions.

Oats were firm and little changed from Friday's figures. Receipts 53 cars and the cash market was unchanged.

TWO NINES IN TIE FOR FIRST

CLEARMONT AND BOLCKOW TOP NODAWAY COUNTY LEAGUE.

COMETS' ERRORS HURT

Pitchers for Hopkins, Quitman and Bolckow Hold Opponents Single Run.

League Standings.

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Clearmont	2	0	1.000
Bolckow	2	0	1.000
Maryville	1	1	.500
Quitman	1	1	.500
Barnard	1	1	.500
Hopkins	1	1	.500
Guilford	0	2	.000
Burlington Junct.	0	2	.000

Clearmont and Bolckow today are tied for the lead in the Nodaway county baseball league following the playing of the second scheduled games yesterday. Both towns are undefeated to date.

Taking advantage of Maryville's errors, Clearmont, playing on its home grounds, trounced the Comets, 8 to 5; and Bolckow hit Guilford hard for ten runs while holding the home team to one score. Wampler, pitching for the team from the Andrew county town, about a mile over the Nodaway county line, held Guilford batters to five scattered hits, and got eight strikeouts. His offerings were received by Davidson.

Ham and Burton constituted the Guilford battery and the Bolckow sluggers collected eleven hits off Ham, who went the entire route. Guilford had about a $35 crowd for the opening game there.

Thorburn in Form.

Thorburn pitched a steady game for Hopkins at Barnard yesterday and the boys from the north part of the county went home with an 8 to 1 victory. Thorburn was supported by King behind the plate. Williams and Nedro, the combination which worked well for Barnard last year, was forced to bow to defeat yesterday.

Quitman took the measure of Burlington Junction at the Junction yesterday, winning 12 to 1. Inman and Carmichael worked well for Quitman, holding the Junction to three hits. Two sets of batteries were used by Burlington Junction. Yates and Davault started by the Quitman batters. Errors by and Carter. Thirteen hits were acquired by the uitman batters. Errors by Burlington and the hard hitting of Quitman were responsible for Quitman's victory. Davault scored Burlington's only run by a trible and short stop's error. McDonald made two spectacular catches for Quitman in the first inning and Iba made a running catch in the ninth to shut off a Quitman score.

As a result of yesterday's games, Maryville, Quitman, Barnard and Hopkins now are tied for third, fourth, fifth and sixth places and Guilford and Burlington Junction are at the bottom of the heap.

Clearmont Gets 14 Hits.

Clearmont accumulated fourteen hits to score eight runs in the game with Maryville. Errors helped the Clearmont team to chalk up its second win.

Clearmont started the scoring in the second inning, when Norris doubled and came home on a single by Brownfield. The home team scored twice more in the third frame. Graham got a two-bagger; Newlon went to first on an error by R. Mayes; Hagey went out at first; and Norris and Brownfield each singled, scoring Graham and Norris.

Clearmont counted three runs in the sixth inning on singles by Long and Buckminster, a base on balls to Graham, Newlon's infield out, Hagey's fly which Arthur dropped, and Norris' hit.

Maryville got its first runs in the seventh inning. Augustine singled. R. Mayes went to first on a fielder's choice but Augustine was safe. Laughlin singled and Burks doubled, scoring Augustine and Mayes. Arthur went out at first and Scott flied out.

Clearmont scored its final two runs in the seventh inning and Maryville tried to rally in the ninth, scoring three runs. It was Burks again who singled to score Augustine and Mayes. Scott brought Burks home with a single, but Laughlin had struck out, Arthur was out at first and Graham took C. Mayes' long fly for the third out and feature play of the game.
